

Recoverable/ Irrecoverable	Exception can be recovered by using the try-catch block.	An error cannot be recovered.
Type	It can be classified into two categories i.e. checked and unchecked.	All errors in Java are unchecked.
Occurrence	It occurs at compile time or run time.	It occurs at run time.
Package	It belongs to java.lang.Exception package.	It belongs to java.lang.Error package.
Known or unknown	Only checked exceptions are known to the compiler.	Errors will not be known to the compiler.
Causes	It is mainly caused by the application itself.	It is mostly caused by the environment in which the application is running.
Example	Checked Exceptions: SQLException, IOException Unchecked Exceptions: ArrayIndexOutOfBoundsException, NullPointerException, ArithmeticException	Java.lang.StackOverflow, java.lang.OutOfMemoryError
