

A feature of programming languages called monitors and it helps in controlled access to shared data. The Monitor is a collection of shared actions, data structures, and synchronization between parallel procedure calls. A monitor is therefore sometimes referred to as a synchronization tool. Some of the languages that support the usage of monitors are Java, C#, Visual Basic, Ada, and concurrent Euclid. Although other processes cannot access the monitor's internal variables, they can invoke its methods

Networking Interview Questions

A list of top frequently asked Networking interview questions and answers are given below.

1) What is the network?

- A network is a set of devices that are connected with a physical media link. In a network, two or more nodes are connected by a physical link or two or more networks are connected by one or more nodes.
 - A network is a collection of devices connected to each other to allow the sharing of data.
 - Example of a network is an internet. An internet connects the millions of people across the world.
-

2) What do you mean by network topology?

Network topology specifies the layout of a computer network. It shows how devices and cables are connected to each other. The types of topologies are:

Bus: